

How to run a community forum

What is a community forum and why hold one?

A community forum is an event where members of the public and a panel of knowledgeable people gather to share and discuss information. Audience members are encouraged to ask the panel questions and engage in discussion. This is one of the best ways to gauge the way a community feels about an issue. It's a great way to:

present facts on an issue to the community find out what the community thinks recruit people who may want to get involved raise awareness of the issue

Organising a forum takes a lot of time and work so it's important there is a group of committed people helping to make sure it runs smoothly. Tasks for organising a community forum include:

- setting a date
- booking a venue
- finding appropriate speakers
- connecting with community partners
- setting the agenda
- publicising the event

Speakers and presenters

For a forum, you'll need 3-4 speakers for the panel and one person to act as moderator. Securing a high profile person to open the event is fantastic if you can organise it. When choosing your speakers consider the following:

- Are they knowledgeable and experienced on the topic?
- Is your panel diverse and includes experts as well as members of the community?
- Are they engaging and good speakers?
- Will speakers appeal to your target audience?

Once you've selected and secured your speakers, make sure you prepare them thoroughly and know exactly what they need.

Provide them with a draft of the agenda and other speakers.

Make sure they're satisfied with the order of presentations and time allocation.

Discuss the content of their remarks to make sure they cover important points.

Will they need audio visual equipment?

Will they require transport or accommodation?
